Introducing a New MeL.org

Some of you may have heard of mel.org before. Some of you may not have. Mel.org is a wonderful website that opens up resources in the state of Michigan to you free of charge. Some of you already know you can use it to get books from libraries across the state, but did you know there is much more that is offered to you through the website? Mel.org houses a subscription to a number of e-resources that might be of interest to you. Here is a list of just a few of them: Consumers Reports, Consumer Health Information, NoveList, World Book Kids, and AtoZ Database. Just to give you an idea what they can do, NoveList is a great way to find what to read next based on you likes and dislikes of a current series or title. World Book Kids is a great resource for education games, activities, and information from around the globe. AtoZ Database is a great resource for job searching, resume and cover letter building, and business and people fact finding. You can find these resources and many others at mel.org or by pressing the link on our website.
